Mayor John Chitwood likes the planning commission's recommendation that the city buy the tree-covered lots at the corner of Carpenter and Ocean Avenue, so they won't be gerrymandered and built on. He has asked the city council and as many of the planning commission who care to attend, and interested citizens, to meet at city hall tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock to talk it over.

The property would cost around $16,800. The money can be taken out of "reserve" without any pain. "But do the citizens want us to spend money this way?" The mayor was wondering this morning. "Here's one citizen who wants you to spend money that way," we informed him for what it was worth.

Somebody, of course, is going to ask: "But what are you going to do with it?"

We're going to look at it.

That might take considerable amplification in some communities but it's self-explanatory in Carmel.

Florence Josselyn summed it up during the planning commission discussion last week. "But should the city buy property that it doesn't intend to use for anything?" one member asked. "I use Devendorf Plaza every time I look at it," said Florence.

Point

The row between the Carmel Point residents who want to annex to Carmel and those who do not apparently simmered down this week when the Board of Directors of the Carmel Point Property Owners Association notified its membership by letter that, in the interest of neighborliness, they would not continue with annexation proceedings for the present.

So far, nobody has got around to informing the city council of this change of heart.

Hooch

Some of our high school kids celebrated Carmel's victory over Pacific Grove, their "Big Game," last week end by getting drunk on beer. This is not news. It happens every year. What makes it news this time — they made the beer themselves!

Our local cops hauled in the kids and turned them over to juvenile court. The A.B.C. raided two Carmel homes and carted out the equipment and several cases of the product. Not bad, either, we have been informed by an adult whose experience goes back to Volstead days. "It was plenty potent, but green. They bottled it too soon."

MUSIC SOCIETY BARITONE

Baritone Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau will sing Schubert Lieder and the Schumann Dichterliebe on the Carmel Music Society program in Sunset Auditorium on December 2 at 8:30 o'clock.

He is a member of the Berlin Opera Company and has performed in all the major European Festivals including those in Edinburgh and Bayreuth. Jay S. Harrison, New York Herald Tribune music critic, stated that Fischer-Dieskau was "unquestionably one of the major German art-song interpreters of our era," after a concert in New York.

Lester Gorn Lived Part Of His New Book As An Israeli Volunteer

By Bob Kaller

With the Middle East aflame once more, and American troops still ashore in the area, Carmel writer Les Gorn's new book The Anglo-Saxons could hardly have appeared at a more appropriate time. It is in the book stores this week.

The novel, dealing with the Israeli War for Independence in 1948-49, has been seven years in the writing, and Gorn was a first-hand participant in a good many of the events.

After making a brilliant record in World War II, Gorn, a New Englander, came to California and enrolled at U.S.C. Here, in May of 1948 he was asked to go overseas and lend his wartime knowledge to help the newly-born Israeli Army.

Gorn's father had long been active in Zionist affairs, working for the creation of a homeland for the Jewish people. Gorn knew that the U. S. Army had unofficially lent the former Col. Mickey Marcus and several other West Pointers to the fledgling Israeli forces. He decided to go.

He was briefed in New York and then in Paris. Thus, barely three short years after the conclusion of one war, he was en route to another.

In Paris he was surprised to find an appreciable number of non-Jews, including an American Indian, among the Jewish volunteers in his group. These were men moved by sympathy, idealism and the spirit of adventure. All had had combat experience which simplified training.

In three weeks they were on trucks bound for Marseilles, where they were loaded 300 to a fish hatch, in a small schooner with one lifeboat and a pair of auxiliary sails. Here they were told to pray in any language they wished while the boat tried to run the blockade. Fortunately the attempt was successful and the volunteers landed in Tel Aviv.

He was posted to an English speaking unit, made up of both Jewish and non-Jewish Americans, Canadians, and some few from other British dominions. Only half the men had rifles, and virtually no field pieces were available. When queried, the command only laughed and said that the enemy would bring up the supplies.

Within days the unit was thrown into its first action at Hill 13 where it captured four anti-tank pieces and shortly thereafter the reckless fighters took four more at the Battle of Hill 100 (this one has been made into a motion picture.)

Gorn's anti-tank unit served in the Negev, the great southern desert area. They were detailed to the Faluja region, near Gaza where Col. Nasser and 3000 Egyptian troops were caught in a pocket and isolated by the hard-driving Israeli bands. (The Israelis, Gorn found, had adapted a great many of Confederate Gen. Jeb Stuart's cavalry tactics to the needs of modern tank and truck warfare.)

Gorn and his men, many of whom had fought against the skilled and stubborn Germans in World War II soon developed a considerable contempt for the Arabs and Egyptians. The Arab is a poor soldier, who will run whenever the chance presents itself, Les says bluntly. The Egyptian fears the night, and cannot be controlled by

Hearing On Carmel Knolls Set For Monday

Monday afternoon in supervisors' chambers in Salinas, Carmel and Valley citizens will make a last ditch fight to block a small-lot subdivision development "Carmel Knolls" at Carmel's back door and the front door to Carmel Valley.

You can help. Turn to page 14 this issue of the Pine Cone. Cut out the advertisement headed: "Board of Supervisors of Monterey County," sign it and mail it.

It would also help if you attended the hearing in Salinas Monday and added your voice to the protest.

Valley property up to the strip along the east side of Highway 1, south of the high school, is zoned for one acre lot minimum residence sites. The highway strip is in interim zoning.

Nearly a year ago Monterey Peninsula Associates asked the county planning commission to approve small-lot subdivision plans for the area. Valley neighbors who had supported acre minimum sites for themselves, Carmel citizens and Carmel Planning Commission, concerned for our "green belt," protested at several hearings, asking that the acre-minimum formula be applied here as it was in the land adjoining.

The county planning commission, disregarding protests, approved subdivision plans with a half-acre average formula and passed them on to the county supervisors for approval.

Monday afternoon, at 2:30, the supervisors hold public hearing, the same persons who protested to the county planners will take their case to the supervisors, among them are Admiral C. W. Fisher and the Carmel Citizens' Committee. They ask for your support.

Planners Hear Protest On City Dump

Carmel planning commissioners in regular session yesterday afternoon were catapulted into a zoning problem when Robert S. Stanton asked to change an office into a restaurant and or food sales store in his Normandy Inn development on Ocean Avenue between Monte Verde and Casanova Streets. They formally recommended that the city purchase the woodsy corner at the northwest corner of Ocean Avenue and Carpenter Streets for a natural park and heard a letter, read by Francis Whitaker, asking that this park, if acquired, be kept natural, not suffer the same fate as 12 lots owned by the city and used as a dump and storage area.

Florence Josselyn was officially appointed to appear before the Board of Supervisors on November 24 to ask that Carmel Knolls sub-

Carmel High School Implementing Comm. First Meeting Tuesday

The implementing committee will hold its first meeting Tuesday evening to study the California Association of Secondary Schools Administrators' report on Carmel High School. Two school administrators, three high school faculty members, three townspeople and five students have been selected to serve on the implementing committee.

They will study the CASSA committee evaluation of curriculum, faculty, administration, students, and campus and building conditions of the High School. This report, made last school year by a group of disinterested experts in the secondary school education field, points out both desirable and undesirable aspects of the instruction which Carmel High School students are receiving; considers problems relative to the rapidly expanding student body and district; criticizes the responsiblity displayed in student government, and deals with administration and faculty relationships and programs.

Serving on the committee are administrators Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, High School Principal Warren Edwards; faculty members, Donald Craig, Raymond T. Gere and Thomas Wilson; townspeople, David Hoisington, Lew McCreery and Mrs. Frank Lloyd; students, Matt Laky, Tom Green, John Wilkin, Polly Gann and John Williams.

Conservationists Speak At Local Billboard Hearing

Senator John McCarthy of Marin County presided over the Senate hearing on highway billboard legislation in Few Memorial Hall in Monterey yesterday afternoon. Senator Fred S. Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee of Monterey County were in attendance as state officials.

Among local persons speaking against billboards on California highways was S. F. B. Morse who stated that California's scenic beauty was one of the greatest assets of the state and that billboards on highways destroyed potential state income.

Others at the hearing were Jack Stanton, Nature Conservancy; Joe Carithers, National Parks Association; C. Edward Graves, Audubon Society; Francis Whitaker, Point Lobos League; Ralph Reynolds, and Mrs. DeForest Sweeney, California Roadside Council; Malcolm Millard; and officials from Monterey, Santa Cruz and Santa Clara Counties. All these persons were in favor of prohibiting billboards on California highways.

Speaking for billboards were representatives of the billboard industry, the billboard workers' union and the Allied Media.

CARMEL GRIDDERS CO-CHAMPS IN BOTH DIVISIONS

Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads each grabbed a share of the league titles last Saturday afternoon by outscoring arch-rival Pacific Grove in the football finale for the 1958 season. Coach Fred Rainer's jayvees rubbed the Wavelets, 38 to 13, to sew up a deadlock in the junior-varsity chase while the Big Padres blanked the Breakers, 57 to 0, to share the league championship with once-tied Gilroy. Gilroy and Carmel were undefeated in league play this season but they battled each other to a 13-13 deadlock to knot up the B-division title race. Carmel's junior-varsity squad got a boost from the Gilroy jayvees who tied league-leading Hollister, 19 to 19, and enabled the Little Padres to slip into a first-place deadlock with Coach Lawson's Hayseeds.

Carmel's jayvee squad set the pattern for the Red and Gray varsity by moving for a quick touchdown in the first quarter and thoroughly outplaying Coach Duke Thayer's inexperienced freshman squad. With Frank Mayo sparking the aerial pyrotechnics from his quarterback spot, the Little Padres were over for a six-pointer soon after the first quarter got underway. The talented sophomore quarterback took turns hitting end Doyle Clayton and halfback Mike Draper to move the ball to Pacific Grove 15 yardline where he bootlegged around the left flank for the touchdown. Clayton's kick was wide of the mark and the Little Padres were in front, 6 to 0. A recovered fumble presented another scoring opportunity for the Little Padres in the first period and the slashing runs of Mike and John Draper soon had the Carmel squad in front 13-0 as Clayton's kick was between the uprights. Brian Le Neve and Nick Molitor blocked a Pacific Grove kick in the second period to set the stage for touchdown number three which was picked up on an aerial from Mayo to Doyle Clayton. A nifty 40-yard pass from Mayo to David Hansen ate up 72 yards for the fourth touchdown and put the game out of reach. The Wavelets got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when Roger Busico powered 38 yards off the Carmel left tackle spot. Stung by the PG score, Carmel came back with a rush for touchdown number five with Mayo passing a 38-yarder to Mike Draper for the score. Fred McGaughey scored again for the Breaker Babes in the final period but his touchdown was soon cancelled out by Dave Hansen's 18-yarder into pay dirt. Rugged line play by Brian LeNeve, Ron Adams, Toby Edson, Nick Molitor, and Paul Rice paved the way for the fine offense generated by the Little Padres and these graduates from the junior-varsity ranks will be heard from on next year's varsity squad.

Carmel's varsity squad established game control on the first play following the kickoff when Bud Conroy sprinted 84 yards to score the first six-pointer. Jeff Smith's conversion kick missed and Carmel was in front, 6 to 0, with 18 seconds gone on the field clock. Following the first touchdown, junior halfback Ron Faia took charge for the Padres by powering to five touchdowns for the most brilliant scoring splurge enjoyed by any Padre back in recent years. The stubby right halfback ripped through the right side of the Breaker line for huge gains as guards Mike Marquard and Al Eaker led the blocking. Strong crossblocking by Chris Wilkin and Phil White opened gaping holes in the PG line. Faia also had a hand in Carmel's seventh touchdown as he lofted a 40-yard aerial to end Bill Hicks who scooted 20 more yards to the end zone. Alert defensive play by Craig Smith, Carmel safetyman, provided the final Padre touchdown as the senior quarterback intercepted a Nightingale pass and rambled 30 yards for the score.

The hard-trying Pacific Grove backs never gave up against the surge of the heavier Carmel line and wound up with over 100 yards gained during the afternoon. Quarterback Dave Nightingale and halfbacks Mike Logan and Dick Adams were dangerous every time they had the ball but the inspired defensive play of linemen Phil White, Bill Hicks, Norm Colman, Al Eaker, Harrison Hilbert, John Wilkin, and Steve Gann stymied any touchdown threats engineered by the Breakers. Carmel picked up a 2-point safety in the final period when a hard defensive charge by Andy Elliott and John Wilkin spilled Nightingale in the PG end zone.

Saturday's big win over arch-rival Pacific Grove wrote finis for 23 Padres seniors who have worn the Red & Gray spangles for the last time. Missing when the roll is called next fall will be ends Bill Hicks, Phil White, Andy Elliott, Fritz Scheffer, Jamie Holman and Nick Verting; tackles Norman Colman and Sam Farr; guards Al Eaker, Tom Stanford, Larry Dufur, Mike Marquard, Deen Rowe, and Van Treat; centers Steve Gann and David Vincent; quarterbacks Craig Smith and Cim Conway; fullbacks Dare Conroy and John Moffett; and halfbacks Dennis Peavey, Jeff Smith, and Richard Muniz. Back for more action with the Padres will be Harrison Hilbert, Chris and John Wilkin, Tom Green, Russ Wise, Bob Moore, Darrell Clark, Ronnie Faia and a host of experienced jayvees who know their way around the CCAL B-league.

One of the tightest football races in the history of the CCAL B-division found the leading teams deadlocked for first place in both the varsity and jayvee sections of the league. The Carmel and Gilroy varsities reached the stalemate by playing a thrilling 13-13 tie in one of the best prep games played in the area. The King City Mustangs were tough on everybody on the league except Carmel and Gilroy and gave the leaders a good battle before dropping the decisions. In a Veteran's Day clash with arch-rival Gonzales the Mustangs chopped up the Spartans, 26 to 13, running back a pair of kickoffs for touchdowns. Hollister, long a power in the B-division, was upset by King City early in the going and was mauled rather badly by Gilroy and Carmel. Gilroy clipped his officers. Many of the latter also take the privileges but seek to avoid danger as assiduously as possible. If a column of 30 Arab tanks appeared, as it did one day, and the Israelis managed to knock out one, the other 29 would turn tail and run, Gorn says.

Gorn's outfit had their toughest battle when they were assigned to take an almost impregnable ex-British police station, in reality a small fortress. The Arabs had every advantage of terrain plus overwhelming numbers. Nevertheless, the Israelis grinned wryly, loaded dynamite trucks and sent them directly at the walls to blow holes in the fortifications. The first wave was wiped out, and the bodies of the dead savagely mutilated by the Egyptains. This turned out to be a bad mistake. The Israelis grew grimmer and returned to the attack. Two nights later a wild charge of dynamite trucks and men stormed the position and took it, forcing the evacuation of 3000 enemy soldiers. This was the kind of courage that no amount of Arab weapons or material was able to match.

From there Gorn was attached to a flying column headed south to Elath, the southernmost port. Les was in the lead jeep which roared into the tiny port, then composed of three mud houses and some military depots, now a bustling little city. Gorn still has the jacket of the Arab Commander as his private souvenir of this campaign.

With the Israelis set to drive to the Suez Canal and beyond, a feat they actually achieved some years later during the Second Round, an Armistice was called. Gorn demobilized and headed for home.

In late 1949 he was back in Hollywood, where he ghosted seven screen plays and began initial work on a novel about his experiences. In 1952 he went to work for a radio station in Porterville where he accumulated the background for a second novel, and where he found the girl, Winifred, who subsequently became his wife. They now have two boys, Rick, four, and David, 9 months.

Since then Gorn, who has always strongly felt that as a writer he could in a small way at least help to shape the world, has arranged to work full time at his trade, doing whatever was available in the writing line. At present he teaches a class Wednesday nights for new writers in this area, as well as two classes at MPC.

His current novel, The Anglo-Saxons, is the story of the part played by the English-speaking volunteers in the Israeli War for Independence. These volunteers, coming as they did from places with generally high standards of living, played a special role and created special problems in the embattled Middle East. They learned the discipline and spirit of a pioneer army in a pioneer country quickly, and aided Israel greatly in attempting to bring Western civilization to a backward, neglected land. Gorn feels that if he can tell this story adequately in any degree in his current work, then the experiences he has gone through will have had great reason and point.

"The writer's job is to point to the future by lighting the past," he says simply.

the Haybalers 34 to 6, to cinch a tie for the crown. San Lorenzo, a newcomer to the league this season, showed good power in beating Gonzales, Pacific Grove, and Live Oak and will be a threat to the B-league powers in future years. The Gonzales Spartans, 60 to 14 winners over Pacific Grove, were the tough luck club of the league, losing close decisions to Hollister and Gilroy and getting a rude upset from San Lorenzo. Coach Ami Leso's Live Oak Acorns are still looking for their first league win after three years in the B-division. The Oaks came close against San Lorenzo but Coach Wayne Richard's big backs wore down the small Morgan Hill crew.

The top three teams in the junior-varsity chase each won five games but tie games threw the title to the twice-tied Hollister and Carmel clubs. Both Carmel and Hollister played even-up with the Gilroy Colts.

A look at the prospects for the 1959 season shows the Hollister Haybalers way out in front with experienced personnel. Coach Bob Matson has 18 returning lettermen ready for duty next fall and the big Hollister jayvee squad will give the 1959 varsity plenty of size. Pacific Grove has 22 lettermen returning and the Breakers could be rough next fall. Gilroy and Carmel are hit hard by graduation and will have a rebuilding job to do next year. King City and Gonzales both have 12 lettermen returning for a 1959 nucleus and the single-wing Mustangs will be rough up front.

SUSAN PORTER TELLS TALES

The second in a series of informal programs took place Friday night at the Coast Gallery-Big Sur when a group gathered to hear Susan Porter talk on Irish mythology. Mrs. Porter has been telling stories for many years, specializing in Irish lore, and has a large following on the Peninsula and in the Big Sur area. The night was stormy and mysterious and the group sitting around the fire at the gallery was fascinated by her mystic tales of gods and mortals.

The next program will be Tuesday at the gallery and will feature Terry Britton and Kay Aspin, guitarists from Carmel.

The guests listening to Susan Porter last week were:

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kip, Mr. and Mrs. Selig Morganrath and children, Dr. and Mrs. Mallett, Miss Tressa Kingswold, Mrs. La Verne Allen and Richard, Mrs. Lolly Fassett, Mrs. Germaine Maiden, Miss Barbara Cooper, Miss Eileen Bolz, Jon Sabatur, Doug Madsen, Pat Boyd and Eric Barker.

Planners Hear Protest on Carmel City Dump

division lots be a minimum of one half acre instead of an average of one-half acre as planned for the Valley mouth development. Anthony Vasconcellos may add on to his existing store at Junipero and Third and convert apartments to motel rooms at Horizon Inn; and Robert Stanton may eliminate two kitchens and move one bathroom at Normandy Inn to integrate the old and new parts of this property, the commission decided.

Commissioners recessed to become a committee of the whole to discuss Mr. Stanton's request to have a restaurant and/or food sales store in Normandy Inn. At present Normandy Inn is in the commercial district where such a development is permissible. However, commissioners are considering establishment of a transition zone. Normandy Inn is within the T-zone under study where retail stores would not be desirable. If Mr. Stanton were granted permission for his shop it might create a non-conformance. The T-zone is not in the Master Plan but proposed in a zoning map of the city now being considered by planning commissioners. Nothing has been decided about the T-zone as yet.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams informed the planning commission they were within their rights under the interim zoning ordinance to withhold decision on Mr. Stanton's request. After lengthy discussion among commissioners and a statement of his case and the case of city planning in general by Mr. Stanton, the matter was continued until the December 17 meeting of the planning commission. Commissioner Herbert Blanks requested that a progress report on commission zoning work be presented at the same meeting and sent to the city council. Commissioners decided to study this report in study session on December 10 for transmission the following week.

Mr. Stanton, in answer to Chairman Willox' question, "Can aesthetics be legislated?," agreed they could not but decried the straight line "T-square and triangle zoning" of a city as exemplified on the Master Plan map in the city hall. He favored "block zoning" and described the unsightly backs of business buildings as seen from the air. Mr. Stanton thought "cooperation between people" would eliminate the undesirable interiors of business blocks and provide, for example, needed off-street parking. He approved preservation of the "picturesque" character of Carmel and thought small food stores near residences did not destroy this feature of a city. He also pointed out the legal aspects of devaluating valuable business property by zoning. Mr. Stanton said he was "willing to cooperate with the commission" and await their findings on December 17.

Francis Whitaker first presented commissioners with photographs of city-owned Block 12, bounded by Mission, Junipero, First and Second Streets. In 1937, 12 of the lots in this block were given to the city with a deed restriction limiting use to park and playground purposes. The remaining eight lots were acquired by the city for the sum of $10, Mr. Whitaker stated in the letter he read next.

"This land has never, to my knowledge, been used for either parks or playgrounds, but as a dump and secondary corporation yard," Mr. Whitaker's letter continued. The photographs he showed commissioners illustrated the present use of Block 12.

He said in the letter that the suggestion of placing a new post office on the present city corporation yard would mean "that the residents in the vicinity of Block 12 will have to wait for the dump to be eliminated. A number of healthy pines have been either killed or pushed over from the dumping, almost no native growth remains . . . and the public has taken advantage of a convenient dump site to get rid of household trash."

Mr. Whitaker approved the commission decision to acquire the natural park at Ocean and Carpenter Streets but wanted action to preserve the woodsy corner. Chairman Willox remarked that such commission action "was not pertinent" to the purchase recommendation. He assured Mr. Whitaker the condition of Block 12 would be put on the planning commission agenda, also the suggestion of Commissioner Fred Keeble that a recommendation be sent the city council confining the use of the Ocean-Carpenter half block to a natural park. Mr. Whitaker also indicated Lobos League funds might assist the city in the purchase of the half block at Ocean and Carpenter. He is president of the Lobos League.

Building Inspector Adams reported to commissioners there are 19 locations within the commercial area with 48 apartment units and only two locations provide off-street parking. This was to aid the land use committee in their evaluation of the necessity for off-street parking for apartments over stores in the business district.

Gretta Mott

Mrs. Gretta Mott died on Sunday in Santa Monica while accompanying her husband, A. G. Mott, on a business trip to Southern California. Although she had been under a physician's care for some months, her death was unexpected.

Eight years ago Mrs. Mott came from Sacramento to live in Pebble Beach when her husband retired.

In addition to her husband she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Edward Goodman of Detroit and Mrs. Marilyn Forbes of Bremerton, Washington; and a son, Warren Mott of Bellingham, Washington.

Private family services were held in Santa Monica on Monday. The same day memorial services for Mrs. Mott were held in the Church of the Wayfarer with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray and the Reverend Edward Goodman, Mrs. Mott's son-in-law, officiating.

Henry Miller Has Watercolor Show In Jerusalem

The American Consul-General of Israel, Albert B. Franklin, opened the Henry Miller show at the Jerusalem Artists' Pavilion the first part of this month. Miller's friend and brother-in-law, Bezalel Schatz, to whom the show was sent, formerly lived in Big Sur, but now resides in Jerusalem. Schatz did the designs for the Israeli exhibit featuring the Dead Sea Scrolls at the Worlds Fair in Brussels this year.

Henry Miller, who is internationally known for his writing and is considered one of the outstanding literary figures in America, has many books that are still banned in the United States, but are published in the major languages and sold throughout the rest of the world. Because of this his works are even better known in Continental Europe and Asia than in this country.

Although Miller has exhibited extensively, having had a traveling show in Japan which completely sold out, and one at the Templeton Gallery in New York last November, many people are unaware that he has been painting since 1928. Even though he considers himself an amateur and paints for pleasure and relaxation, while living in Paris he had a show there which greatly interested Fernand Leger and Joan Miro. Leger personally took some of his paintings around to collectors, dealers, and galleries. His watercolors helped him through his salad days when he still was struggling for recognition as a writer. Numerous paintings were exchanged for food and clothing, and many prominent people are now possessors of Miller watercolors acquired during this period.

The Israeli critic, Meir Ronnen, points out that Miller's vibrant personality comes through his painting as it does in his books. Also his remarkable feeling for color and composition, and his extensive use of symbols: religious symbols such as the Shields of David or Torah Scrolls take their place alongside symbols from the American Indians.

Both Henry Miller and his wife, Eve, who has been working with a new crayon technique, have paintings hanging at the Coast Gallery-Big Sur where it is planned to have a Miller show after the first of the year.

Victor Lalond

Victor Lalond died in a Salinas Hospital on Monday after two years of illness. He was born 86 years ago in Canada. In 1934 Mr. Lalond came to live in Carmel Valley. He worked as a ranch hand for the Hatton family and on San Carlos Ranch. There are no known survivors.

Funeral services conducted by the Reverend Clifford Moody, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church in Pacific Grove, were held yesterday afternoon.

NEW GALLERY SHOW

A show of small paintings and drawings, not to exceed 16 by 20 inches, opens in the Beardsley Room at the Carmel Art Association Gallery on December 2 and remains on display until January 6.

Florence True is chairman for the new membership show in the main gallery which opens and closes on the same dates.

The board of directors of the Carmel Art Association meets in the Gallery on November 28 at 7:30 o'clock.

Thomas Snyder

Thomas Kinff Snyder died on Friday in a local rest home after a long illness.

Mr. Snyder was born in St. Louis, Missouri, on June 1, 1880. He lived in Cambridge, Massachusetts, before coming here a year and a half ago. For 40 years he was a salesman in a Boston brokerage firm. His wife, Mrs. Ellen Smeaton Snyder died in 1951.

Survivors are two sons, Richard Snyder of Carmel and Bruce K. Snyder of Westport, Connecticut; two brothers, Allen Snyder of Cambridge and Otto Snyder of Falmouth, Massachusetts; a sister, Mrs. Mary Marden of Winnetka, Illinois; and six grandchildren.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

Big things are happening in your library, big in more ways than one. We are getting a new circulation desk. Waste not, want not, being our motto, the old desk will go to the children's room. We need a desk there as badly as we need a larger desk out front, so all departments benefit by the improvement. The new main desk will be in sections, made to fit in whatever order they are assembled. We have studied this problem and we think we know how to arrange them to the best advantage. But in case we change our minds later on, we can unbolt them and change them to comply with developments. One feature of the desk will be a book return truck with a depressible base which the weight of returned books lowers until it can accommodate a great many books. As the books are processed and put aside for shelving, the base of the truck raises, bringing the remaining books within reach of the librarian. With the business we are doing now these modern conveniences are going to be heaven-sent.

Librarians call these new trucks depressible base trucks, but try as we may, we do not find that word in any dictionary in the library. Perhaps we have made it up. Was it Humpty-Dumpty in Alice in Wonderland who said that when HE used a word he made it do what he wanted it to! So it is with us.

A big step was won in the matter of desegregation in the South when colored people in Montgomery, Alabama, won the right to sit in any seat in the buses of that city. This was done under the leadership of the Reverend Martin Luther King, and entirely through the application of non-violent resistence. Dr. King has written his account of the struggle and it has been published under the title Stride Toward Freedom. This is the Montgomery story told by one who lived through it.

It was John Gunther who suggested to Senator William Benton that he do a book from his findings after he and his family made their trip to Moscow. Senator Benton found out some surprising things about the Russians and their educational system. His findings and the resultant book were instrumental in the furor which has overtaken us lately and which may result in changes in our own educational systems. More science and less fluff seems to be the watchword now. The Benton book is called This Is the Challenge. Read it and make up your mind.

A recent thing in the amusement field, if it be called amusement, is the enthusiasm for Italian bridge. Charles Goren is just the person to explain the Italian system and to show how it can result in shrewd strategy at the bridge table. The book is called Goren Presents the Italian Bridge System. There is no fooling about the title and no fooling about the system.

When you are planning your gift list for Christmas remember to give books. They are the nicest ever, and for the person who has everything, well, you know he can't have every book! This library has a new compilation called a Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1958. It is not for circulation, it is not even in the reference collection upstairs. It is a Librarian's office sort of thing, and that's where it is. But if you want to use it, ask at the desk and the attendant will be happy to fetch it for you to use in the building. Or come down where I live in the basement and use it in peace at the big table in my office. It lists all the books now available on almost every conceivable subject. The idea is that if your friend or relative has a hobby this book will tell you what has been published on that particular subject. You can buy with intelligence. You may even flabbergast your friend by your acumen!

Scout Council Meets Tonight

Peninsula district representatives at the Monterey Bay Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, executive board meeting in Salinas tonight will be Joseph B. Fratessa, Robert E. Ross, Herbert W. Powers, John F. Martin, Loren Smith, Dan M. Kohn, Dudley Swim, Geo. O. Carlson, Howard S. Bucquet, Dick Phinney, E. M. Seifert, Jr., and Albert M. Lester. The board is the legislative body of the council which serves Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties.

Local Demo Women Hear Ralph Brown

State finances are a serious problem facing the new Democratic-controlled Assembly, Ralph M. Brown, slated to be speaker of the Assembly, told members of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club on Monday. He spoke at a luncheon meeting in the Masonic Temple at which officers were elected for the coming year.

Mrs. Saul Weingarten remains as president of the group for a second term. Miss Patricia Lane is vice president; Mrs. Phyllis Steven, treasurer; Mrs. Jeannette Alden, recording secretary; and Mrs. Helen Arnold, corresponding secretary for another year.

Brown saw no way of solving the financial problem in California but did remark that a two-cent tax on each pack of cigarettes might raise 20 to 25 million dollars if enacted by the Legislature. "We're in a serious situation," he remarked. "We have to be very, very careful." Brown was introduced by State Senator Fred Farr.

EXTRA PERFORMANCE OF THE MOUSETRAP

The Mousetrap, the Agatha Christie murder mystery now playing at The Studio Theatre in Carmel, is playing an extra performance of the show Thanksgiving evening, November 27, at 8:30 o'clock.

These chilling evenings this chilling play has proved popular with Carmel residents and visitors. David Eldridge as the sadistic Paravicini, and David Mayo as the neurotic Christopher Wren will again prey upon Shelia Goldes as Molly, the Monkswell manor Inn keeper, on this Thanksgiving holiday evening, as well as at the regular performances on Friday and Saturday nights.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Marie Gibson, soprano, winner of the San Francisco Opera Contest and soloist in the last Bach Festival, was presented by the Monterey Peninsula College Friday night to a representative audience who became enchanted with the work and personality of this delightful artist. Seldom have we heard such pure joy of voice and performance. We admired her in Bach but we loved her in the broader display of varied selections, given not only with a perfectly produced vocal technique but with dramatic soulfulness that made some of the best known numbers a performance of new intent and artistic excellence.

Anita Priest, who accompanied Miss Gibson brilliantly, vied too strongly with the singer at times, which might, however, have had something to do with the acoustics of the hall, for we wished we could have heard these two artists in the spacious circles of a concert hall. Low ceilings do not lend themselves to sound expansion. Incidentally, here again is the crying need for an adequate auditorium for the Peninsula's music events; though intimacy has its special charm and engendered an enthusiasm last Friday that met the joyous spirit and exuberance of the performers.

The opening beauty of Handel's Ode for St. Cecilia's Day (truly seeming to be Marie Gibson's patron saint!) and his Allelujah from Esther, two Brahms and two Schubert lieder, a Verdi opera aria from Traviata, were artistically captivating. Debussy's Air de Lia from the cantata L'Enfant Prodique, Duparc's Chanson Triste, Faure's Lydia, and Depuis le Jour from Charpentiers's Louise comprised a French group. We do not remember ever hearing the Louise aria given with such rapturous and sensitive pathos or such adherence to the dynamics of the score. Compositions by Americans, Weill and Barber filled the final group to which the singer added the brilliant waltz adapted from Strauss' Vienna Woods for the screen play, The Great Waltz. Power, compass and rhythmic flow made Gibson's rendering a never-to-be-forgotten one. She was besieged by the appreciative audience in the reception which followed, while Harvey Marshall was congratulated for securing these artists for the College Recital Series.

The Musical Art Club presented Myriam Zunser, violinist, and Helga Hinman, pianist, Sunday afternoon at All Saints' Parish Hall to a good audience who heard an unusually interesting violin program. Although living in San Jose, Myriam Zunser has recently become lead in the viola section of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, travelling weekly to rehearsals. Originally from Poland, she has the innate musical gifts of her nation and they found full expression in the performance of Corelli, Bach, Beethoven, Smetana, Bartok and Szymanowski selections to which, after strong recalls, she added The Bird as a Prophet by Schumann and Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 2.

A thoroughly schooled musician, with experience at her back and possessing an instrument of exceptional quality tone, she played every note with balanced phrasing and emotional conception and fire, particularly in the Hungarian Dances and the Szymanowski group. The Bach Adagio and Fugue for violin and the Beethoven Romanze, immediately demonstrated her smooth bowing and power. The support of pianist Hinman, who showed sympathetic and brilliant underscoring and perception of the compositions, was rare and comprehensive. Those who "accompany" generally get too little credit for the all-round musicianship it demands. Often the piano part is equally as important as that of the soloist, as in the program of these two good artists. In short, it was one of the most successful concerts ever given by the Club, and it is to be hoped Zunser may be heard again in a concerto with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, which is gradually adding some distinguished artists to its ranks. Of these, Myriam Zunser is the latest.

At the Wayfarer Church's Friendship Hall Sunday evening, a negro artist, Marion Downs, soprano, was heard in chiefly negro hymns, themes, street cries, an aria from Porgy and Bess and other selections. A group of Traditional Airs in repeated statements—such as Study War No More—was cleverly given over to the audience through leadership from the singer, who demonstrated much power to inspire community singing. She obtained an amazing result in pitch, tone and harmony from an audience containing many elderly people. In the final Amen her strong musical voice rang high above the chorus in an impromptu obligato. Accompanying oneself in public singing is generally felt too arduous but Downs had no compunctions and did it well, even in the exacting voice and accompaniment of The Lord's Prayer, with which she finished so feelingly that many shed tears and paid her the high compliment of silence instead of applause. It was a remarkable demonstration of earnestness, musical talent, with joyous spiritual devotion and no pretentions that conveyed something more than a loving sermon. Dr. Gray presented to Marion Downs her portrait which had been painted from a photograph by Dick Turner.

ORDINANCE NO. 249 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING CARMEL ARTS COMMISSION.

WHEREAS, the residents of our City have long had a rich and authentic tradition of practicing and enjoying the various arts, which we believe is our duty and pleasure to assist in all practical ways.

NOW, THEREFORE, the City Council of Carmel-by-the-Sea does ordain as follows:

Section 1: That Part II of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea be amended by the addition of a new division thereto to be designated as Division 7, and to read as follows:

"DIVISION 7

Carmel Arts Commission

Section 105. The Carmel Arts Commission is hereby established with the following powers, duties and objectives:

A) To stimulate, organize and to operate as the Council may authorize by appropriate resolution, artistic functions in the area.

B) To advise with and assist organizations making appropriate cultural contributions in the community.

C) To make recommendations to, and be available for consultation with other agencies of city government concerning artistic matters.

D) To encourage artistic talent in the area.

E) To maintain a calendar of cultural events and to do such coordinating of same as may seem advisable.

F) To cooperate with Carmel schools in their arts and crafts programs.

G) To consider various artistic projects from time to time on its own initiative or as the Council may request, and make recommendations concerning them, and take such action in connection with them as the Council may direct.

H) To encourage gifts, bequests, and devises to be made to the City in furtherance of any present or future objective or project associated with the commission.

Section 106.

A) The Carmel Arts Commission is hereby authorized to receive or reject donations or bequests, on behalf of the City, of various artistic properties, and to locate, use or dispose of them as the Commission may decide.

B) The Carmel Arts Commission may incur indebtedness in the name of and on behalf of the City in the furtherance of its objectives, provided that funds are appropriated, approved or budgetted by the City Council in advance for such purpose.

Section 107.

A) The Carmel Arts Commission shall consist of seven (7) members to be appointed by the City Council. Initially, three (3) members shall be appointed for one year, two (2) members for two years, and two (2) members for three years. At the expiration of the first terms of the original members, subsequent appointments shall all be for terms of three years. Members shall continue as members of the Commission after the expiration of their term until their successors are appointed.

B) Five (5) of the seven (7) members shall be selected so as to give balanced representation insofar as is feasible to the following categories, i.e., painting, crafts, photography, cartooning, music, writing, drama, dance, sculpture, architecture, and patron of the arts, and shall be either actively engaged in or closely identified with one or more of these categories. Two (2) of the members may be selected without regard to the requirements of this paragraph.

C) The Commission shall be so constituted at all times that a majority of the members thereof are residents of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea. All members shall be over the age of twenty-one years, and citizens of the United States.

Section 108. Said Carmel Arts Commission shall elect from among its membership a Chairman, who shall be a resident of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and shall appoint a secretary, who may or may not be a member of the Commission, and shall prescribe rules and regulations for its meetings and method to be employed in calling the same, and notice of any to be given thereof. The Secretary shall keep a book of Minutes of all such meetings."

Section 2: Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

ORDINANCE NO. 250 N. S.

ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING CARMEL FORESTRY COMMISSION.

WHEREAS, Carmel is determined to be primarily and uniquely a village in a forest, the urban forest, private as well as public, constituting an integral part of the setting of Carmel, and

WHEREAS, it is deemed desirable that special attention should be given to the care and management of such urban forest by persons who are particularly qualified to consider the technical and aesthetic aspects of such a program, and advise with the City Council, and City employees and commissions, from time to time concerning these aspects,

NOW, THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea does ordain as follows:

Section 1: That Part II, Division 6, of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, be amended to read as follows:

"DIVISION 6

Carmel Forestry Commission

Section 100. A Forestry Commission of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby created, to continue until December 31, 1960, such Commission to be composed of five (5) members, at least two (2) of which are to be professionally identified with forestry or allied fields, at least one (1) member to be a lay member, and one (1) member to be the member of the City Council who serves as Street Commissioner. The majority of the Commission at all times is to be composed of residents of the city. The members of the Commission shall be appointed until December 31, 1960. The Superintendent of Streets is hereby appointed as ex officio member of this Commission.

Section 101. The Commission hereinabove established shall be known as the Carmel Forestry Commission, and shall have the duty of advising the City Council, or such instrumentalities of city government as the City Council may direct, with respect to the following matters:

A) To develop a management plan for the urban forest, considering in such plan the following:

1) A planting program to include not only locations, but appropriate species, and plan for acquisition and care of planting stock.

2) Program for control of forest insects and diseases.

3) Management of different age classes and species of trees, including special measures which may be necessary for trees growing under adverse conditions which are particularly necessary to the appearance of the community.

B) To advise the City Council, or other government instrumentalities of the City with respect to specific items of management and technical forestry matters, including the introduction of new species into the urban forest, or the elimination of existing species.

C) To provide publicity in regard to the problems of the urban forest, including a public information program concerning care of forest resources, and including cooperation with school programs on conservation, and the like.

D) To assist in developing a park program in conjunction with any city master plan adopted.

E) To consider the correlation of the management of the urban forest with any park program that has been, or may be, developed.

F) To encourage gifts, bequests and devises to be made to the City in furtherance of any present or future objection or project associated with the Commission.

Section 102. The Carmel Forestry Commission may incur indebtedness in the name of and on behalf of the city in furtherance of its objectives, provided that funds are appropriated, approved, or budgetted by the City Council in advance, for such purpose.

Section 103. Said Carmel Forestry Commission shall elect from among its membership a chairman, and shall appoint a secretary, who may or may not be a member of the Commission, and shall prescribe rules and regulations for its meetings and method to be employed in calling the same, and notice of any to be given thereof. The secretary shall keep a book of minutes of all such meetings."

Section 2: Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

To California

...a glass of beer is many things

Californians are proud of the San Joaquin Valley's contribution to their economy, proud that it "belongs" in their state. Beer belongs, too—not only as light refreshment but as an important factor in the economy.

Last year alone the Brewing Industry purchased virtually 100% of California-produced hops, over ⅓ of the barley crop.

And to the nearly 8,000 Californians in the Brewing Industry a glass of beer has an added significance. It means a good livelihood.

Two Honors For Polly

During school hours last Friday, Polly Gann learned she was Carmel High School's Daughters of the American Revolution citizenship award candidate; selected by the senior girls and faculty. That evening at the school dance she was amazed when it was announced the team had named her Football Queen.

As DAR candidate Polly is eligible to enter district, regional and state competition. She takes an examination in American history and civics. The results of this examination will determine the district $25 Savings Bond winner, the $50 bond regional winner, and the state winner who receives a trip to Washington, D. C. One senior high school girl in each state is awarded the DAR trip to the nation's capital.

Altar Society Restoration Talk

The November meeting of the Carmel Mission Altar Society was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Fratessa on Thursday afternoon. Miss Genevieve Gehres was cohostess. A very large attendance of members and guests filled the drawing room which was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and berries.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Xavier Martinez delighted her listeners with the history of the restoration of Carmel Mission, giving special praise to Mr. Harry Downey whose diligent research and untiring labors have been instrumental in bringing the mission to its present interesting state. Mrs. Martinez also recalled the beginnings of the Altar Society many years ago.

The tea following the meeting was presided over by Mrs. S. Hasket Derby and Mrs. H. Nichols.

m-m-mmm (sigh) electric heat!

Electric heat gives you that take-off-your-shoes-and-be-comfortable feeling. And that's quite all right because modern electric heaters warm an entire room so evenly, you can go shoe-less without feeling c-cold spots or ch-chilly drafts.

Here are three proven electric heating systems that are better buys now. All quick, quiet and fully automatic!

LIVE BETTER—electricity is cheap in California

Built-in wall units are designed to blend with any décor; are a convenient out-of-the-way installation.

Portable heaters are just the thing where you need extra heat for short periods.

Gray Burnham Saturday Bride

A large group of friends, many of them from the Bay area, attended the wedding of Gray Burnham and George A. Hynes, Jr., at 4:00 o'clock on Saturday afternoon in Carmel Mission. Father William McGuire of St. Edward's Church in San Francisco read the service.

Gray, given in marriage by her father Dr. Clark Burnham of Piedmont, wore an ivory antique satin gown fashioned with a draped bodice and very full skirt, gathered low on either side and flowing into a chapel train below the bow which marked the back waistline. A cap of Belgian lace, made from her grandmother's wedding gown, held her full length veil in place and she carried ivory bride's roses.

Robin Burnham was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were another sister, Wendy Burnham, Mrs. Stuart Engs of Piedmont and Jane Mills of Berkeley. Their similar cocktail length dresses of heavy moss-green iridescent taffeta had square necklines and full gathered skirts. They wore matching velvet bands in their hair and carried arrangements of magnolia leaves and green spider chrysanthemums.

Tracy van Voorhees of San Francisco was best man and ushers were Robert Bernhard of San Francisco, Blair McDonald of Pebble Beach, Robert E. Lee and Frank Brunk, both of Oakland, John U. Sabin of Fresno and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Henry T. Fulton of San Francisco.

The bride's mother, Mrs. A. Carol McKenney attended the ceremony wearing a full-skirted sable-brown satin dress trimmed in back with a large champagne colored satin bow which matched her veiled hat.

Mrs. George A. Hynes, Sr., the groom's mother, wore a green and deep blue brocade gown and matching blue hat.

The wedding party received before a gold leaf Chinese screen at the reception held in Dr. and Mrs. McKenney's Pebble Beach home. The rooms were decorated with lighted bamboo trees and arrangements of white hydrangeas. The bridal couple cut their wedding cake in the dining room and were toasted with champagne.

Gray changed to a gray flannel suit with a short box jacket fastened with handmade silver buttons before leaving with her husband on a motor trip South. Her accessories were black and her hat was a band of green leaves. When they return they will live in San Francisco.

Gray graduated from Sunset school and Santa Catalina School for Girls, then continued her education at the University of California where she was president of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. After graduating from Cal she spent last year traveling in Europe. She is a member of the Monterey Peninsula League.

George is also a graduate of the University of California where he was affiliated with Chi Phi fraternity. He relinquished membership in the Bachelors on Saturday.

Free Latin-American WAC Talk

The World Affairs Council in cooperation with the Carmel Adult School, will present Dr. Francis Violich, chairman of the department of city and regional planning at the University of California, in a lecture entitled The Urban Scene in Latin America—A Look at 15 Years of Growth tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock, in Fellowship Hall, Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel. The meeting will be open to the public without charge and will be illustrated by magnificent colored slides of modern South American cities.

Dr. Violich, author of Cities of Latin America, was born in San Francisco, received his B. S. degree in landscape architecture in 1934 from the University of California and placed two consecutive years in national finals of Prix de Rome competition held by the American Academy in Rome. He did graduate study at Harvard University and at Massachusettes Institute of Technology and traveled in Europe and Latin America

Children's Home Society Party

The Monterey Peninsula Council of the Children's Home Society plans a party at Del Monte Lodge on Tuesday evening from 6:00 to 8:30 o'clock. The affair marks the culmination of the Warshawsky Painting Project and Art Exhibit. Portraits by Abel Warshawsky will be displayed and sittings for a portrait painted by Mr. Warshawsky awarded to one person attending the early evening festivities. Proceeds of the event will further the work of the Children's Home Society, a philanthropic adoption agency. Sponsors of Tuesday's gathering are Little Bits, Mother Goose and Punch and Judy chapters of the Monterey Council. Tickets may be obtained from chapter members.

Mrs. Frank P. Bray is general chairman for the Warshawsky Art Exhibit. Her assistants are Mrs. Blair McDonald, Mrs. Jack J. Miller, Mrs. Lewis L. Fenton, Mrs. Carmel Martin, Jr., Mrs. Arthur E. Benoit, Mrs. Clyn Smith, Jr., Mrs. Howard Reed, Mrs. Robert Sparolini, Mrs. Walter Layton, Mrs. David Hill, Mrs. Warren Edwards, Mrs. Frederic E. ORIGINALS OF NEXT YEAR'S CHRISTMAS CARDS IN GEZA ST. GALY'S LIBRARY DISPLAY

The Carmel Crafts Guild display case at the Carmel Library for November holds three prints made in Italy from Geza St. Galy's mosaic tiles. These and five others were purchased by Producta of New York and are in Producta's 1959 line of Christmas cards.

Mr. St. Galy studied in Hungary and Italy where he became interested in ceramics and tile painting. The colors and religious symbolism of his work are reminiscent of stained glass windows of the old world, and yet the designs have the simplicity of a mosaic.

Mr. St. Galy was president of the Crafts Guild in '56-57, and in '57 originated the Religious Art Exhibit of the Church of the Wayfarer. This year he had a one-man show at Montalvo, California, and is currently exhibiting at the Gallery of the Artists' Guild of America as well as in his own Carmel studio.

His work is in many private homes and public homes over the nation: Church of the Wayfarer, the First Methodist Church of Monte Vista Park, the Chapel of the Lutheran College in Oakland. At present he is working on mural designs for the Lutheran Seminary in Saint Louis, Missouri,—the Life of St. Paul in three panels. Recently, Concordia Senior College at Fort Wayne, Indiana, accepted a St. Galy design for a seven by five foot tile mural for their chapel, which was designed by the famous architect Saarinen.

Mr. St. Galy will change his exhibit at Harrison Memorial Library once during the month.

Only $1.00 will hold it until Christmas

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Recognition of man's true nature as God's spiritual image and likeness is a central theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" which will be heard in Christian Science services Sunday.

From the King James Version of the Bible will be read the following (II Corinthians 5:1): "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Also bringing out man's spiritual nature is this passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Rightly understood, instead of possessing a sentient material form, man has a sensationless body; and God, the Soul of man and of all existence, being perpetual in His own individuality, harmony, and immortality, imparts and perpetuates these qualities in man,—through Mind, not matter" (280:25-30).

Is this a park or playground? Grace Unander Benson gave twelve lots on Camino Del Monte to the City of Carmel in 1937. There was a deed restriction that the property should be used for park or playground purposes only. In 1942 the city bought eight adjoining lots from Frank Smith for $10. The street department found the property a convenient dump and such it has remained. Francis Whitaker protested this use to the planning commission yesterday. See Planning Commission story, page one.

Audubon Screen Tour On Everglades Set For December 1

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will present its second program in the season's series of natural history color motion pictures on December 1 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in Sunset Auditorium.

Naturalist-photographer William H. Wagoner, of Homestead, Florida, will show A Touch of the Tropics, a film of the everglades of Florida, a region where jungle meets swamp, where bay touches island, key, and sunken reef, the only region of its kind in all North America. The shadowy aisles formed by moss-draped cypress trees are the habitats of alligators, ibis, and the beautiful egret. The many tropical sea creatures which frequent the below surface coral reefs of Florida Bay will also be shown. Season tickets may be used or single admissions procured at the door.

Nicolete Meredith Stack (Mrs. Charles M. Stack) of Los Angeles informs the Pine Cone that her fifth book for young people, a teen-age novel entitled Dreams To Keep, has a Carmel setting and will be published in the spring by Lothrop Lee and Sharp.

"It is a newspaper career story," says Mrs. Stack in her letter, "and has a completely fictitious editor of an unnamed Carmel newspaper in it (he is a nice interesting person) so when I am in Carmel I may drop in to call on the REAL editors. Your newspaper helped so much in establishing the atmosphere of my story. I expect to be in Carmel after the holidays to gather material for another book about the Bay area."

John Browning, seated at a Steinway piano, is pictured in an advertisement in last week's New Yorker magazine. He made many friends in Carmel during the time he was in Army service at Fort Ord a year ago. This summer the Pine Cone had an interview with him when he was visiting Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly. John had just returned from a European concert tour. He was abroad again this fall for a concert in the American Pavilion at the Brussels World Fair at the invitation of the U.S. State Department. He played programs in Saudi Arabia before returning to New York for a Town Hall performance this month. Only 25 years old, John has played over 60 concerts in Europe, six in Mexico and many in the United States, including appearances in the Hollywood Bowl and one here during his Fort Ord duty.

The highest Santa Lucia peaks had snow-capped crowns on Saturday and were visible to the throng gathered at Bardarson Field for the Carmel-Pacific Grove football game.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Spontaneous expressions of gratitude for God's goodness will be featured at the Thanksgiving service announced by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monte Verde near 6th Avenue, Carmel, for 11:00 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

The special service is open to the public and local church members have invited everyone to attend.

A Lesson-Sermon for the day entitled "Thanksgiving" will emphasize the importance of living one's gratitude to God. To be read in all Christian Science churches, the Lesson-Sermon will consist of selections from the King James Version of the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Testimonies from the floor will include gratitude for spiritual growth, physical healings and other blessings.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF MONTEREY COUNTY

Gentlemen:

We, citizens of the Carmel area, are greatly concerned over the increasing pressures to overcommercialize and standardize this beautiful portion of Monterey County. We earnestly request that you take all appropriate steps to preserve and protect the noncommercial, residential character of this community and its unique way of life.

In particular, we urge that you prevent the creation of any more crowded real estate developments in the Carmel area by maintaining A MINIMUM BUILDING LOT SIZE OF AT LEAST ONE ACRE.

NAME .....

RESIDENCE .....

If you agree with the above and wish to keep tract type housing out of our area, please sign this advertisement and send to the Citizens Committee, P. O. Box 1101, Carmel, California. We will present your signature along with others to the Board of Supervisors when we oppose the new small lot subdivision of Carmel Knolls.
